

New Developments in the Calculation and Use of CYP (Couple-Years of Protection) and Their
Implications for Evaluation of Family Planning Programs

September 8, 2011—8:30am to 12:30pm
Palomar Hotel, Freer Room
2121 P Street NW, Washington, DC

Meeting Objectives:

- Understand the process of transforming data into CYP factors, including how data are identified, selected, and analyzed
- Discuss uses of CYP, including standard and innovative possibilities
- Generate awareness of the role of CYP in USAID evaluation reporting

8:30–9:00am	Meet and Greet (light breakfast)
9:00–9:15am	Welcome and Review of Agenda Carolyn Curtis, AOTR/RESPOND Project, USAID Bureau for Global Health Pamela Barnes, President, EngenderHealth Chair, Jim Shelton, Science Advisor, USAID Bureau for Global Health
9:15–9:20am	Importance of CYP to USAID and Its Use in Field Programs Jim Shelton
9:20–10:45am	CYP Update: Newly Calculated Factors (Thinking, Calculation, Justification, Implications) Emily Sonneveldt, Senior Associate, Futures Institute
10:45–11:00am	Break
11:00–11:45am	A Next Step: Estimating Impact from CYP Jacqueline Darroch, Senior Fellow, Guttmacher Institute
11:45–12:30pm	Moving Forward: Disseminating the New Factors and Identifying Opportunities for Cross-National Standardization Scott Radloff, Director, Office of Population and Reproductive Health, USAID Bureau for Global Health

